Question 1 - Professor Course Evaluations

Part A

Distribution of Average Course Evaluation Scores across UT Austin Courses

The distribution of the Average Course Evaluation Scores at UT Austin are skewed to the left, and the mean of the distribution is 3.998, implying that a majority of the courses are rated positively. The highest frequency of scores is around 4.0 to 4.5, which explains that professors at UT Austin are well-regarded by students when it comes to handling their classes. Along with this, there are very few courses rated below 3 on average, which suggests that UT Austin is keeping up well in course quality.

Part B
